SHIPWRECKED SCOUTS RESCUED 7 Boys Who Left Here in Morning Nearly Lose Lives Off Alcatraz

Seven San Francisco Sea Scouts, returning from the week-end regional regatta at Redwood City, laughed today about an experience that came close to being a tragedy. Six of them were rescued by a ferryboat after they had clung for four hours to the hull of their capsized whaleboat.

The other Sea Scout, Oliver Cope, 21, Stanford University medical student, swam through the cold waters of the bay off Alcatraz Island to summon aid.

The shipwreck wrote a record of coolness and courage into the annals of the sea.

The other Sea Scouts were Victor Lover, 18, Mission high school student who was in charge of the craft, Ship 220 of the San Francisco Council of Sea Scouts; Eugene Jehly, 18; Robert Cummings, 17; William Sullivan, 17; Michael Wojcik, 15; and Norman Buller, 18.

The boys had left Redwood City at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Cope swam through the rough bay water for 30 minutes before he reached the mud banks of Treasure Island. He swam side-stroke, clinging to an oar for buoyancy.

"There really isn't anything dramatic about it," he told his rescuers.

After being challenged by a navy sentinel and asking for help for his companions, Cope collapsed and was taken to the sick bay on the navy receiving ship at Yerba Buena Island.

Meanwhile the boys on the boat were singing to keep their spirits up.

Then the lights of the ferryboat, San Leandro approached. The skipper, Captain McNulty saw them. He lowered a lifeboat and picked them up.

When their 26-foot ketch was tipped over by a strong gust of wind as the boat was taking late in the evening for a final run to San Francisco yacht harbor, the Sea Scouts remained calm and scrambled to the top of the overturned boat.

There they waited half an hour, with their teeth chattering because of the cold. As it grew dark, they debated which of their number had the best chance of making shore and summoning help.

The man they chose, Cope, struck out, landed at Treasure Island, site of the San Francisco exposition, and speeded a successful search.

For four hours the others held their precarious position, chilled, their vision obscured by fog, while a dozen navy, Coast Guard and police craft searched the waters of

H. G. Fleishman Police Officer, Struck by Taxi

Police Officer H. G. Fleishman, 42, 714 Adams street, had a narrow escape from possibly fatal injuries and suffered a chipped shoulder bone and a shoulder dislocation when he was hit and hurled several feet by a taxi cab driven by Charles W. Wooton, 21, 1443 Hudson street.

Fleishman was on patrol duty in connection with the Sea Scout parade Saturday evening when the accident occurred.

He was struck from the rear. Fellow officers who witnessed the accident said that Fleishman hurtled through the air several feet off the ground before landing on the pavement.

The accident took place at Arguello and Broadway as the parade passed.

Wooton told police he misunderstood Fleishman's signal. The cab driver was not held.

The accident took place at the identical place and time as the mishap last year when alertness of Officer E. G. Fogarty, who stopped a drunken driver from crashing into the lines of marching tars, prevented a tragedy.

CITIZENS URGED TO ASK FRIENDS TO FESTIVAL
"Invite your friends and relatives to the festival."

That was the urgent message of Mayor Paul A. McCarthy to all Redwood City residents today.

Pointing out that the Harbor Opening Festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday will prove an attraction worth going many miles to see, Mayor McCarthy urges all citizens to write, telephone or wire friends and relatives to come here this weekend.

Francisco will give a concert at the harbor immediately afterwards while preparations are being made for the dedicatory ceremonies at 3 p.m. Warrant Officer L. E. Decker, band leader, notified festival officials today.

The band also will play during the dedication.

Union Service Stations Install New "Powder Rooms"

"Make-up" Facilities in Stations Prove a Popular Innovation

Merchandising experts have estimated that women influence the purchase of approximately 75 per cent of all commodities sold, according to a statement made by J. H. Conroy, central region manager for Union Service Stations.

"Progressive minded concerns have taken advantage of this fact by addressing a great many of their sales messages directly to the ladies, and the facilities, services and conveniences of these concerns have been developed with the intention of pleasing their feminine customers," Conroy said.

"Union Service Stations, identified by the orange and blue canopy signs, have installed in their stations, on the Pacific Coast, a new 'powder room' where ladies can freshen up in clean, convenient surroundings. These rooms are finished in tiled walls, composition floors and chromium trimmings."

MENLO PARK NEWS NOTES

MENLO PARK, Sept. 10 (Special)—Miss Eileen Paris of Menlo Park and John Skrabo of Portola will be united in marriage September 18 at the Church of the Nativity. The union of the young people is the culmination of a romance begun in their school days at Sequoia High School.

The prospective bride is charming and beautiful, with many friends on the peninsula. Mr. Skrabo is foreman for Mr. J. F. Waters, automobile magnate who owns Woodside farm.

Dr. Hardy has disposed of his dental business and equipment in the Artina building to two young San Francisco dentists. Dr. Hardy is suffering from a fractured arm and cannot engage in his profession for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. David Shepherd of Redwood City have moved into their new cottage in Stanford Park.

Novel Automobile Owned By Student

According to information reaching Mr. A. J. Donnelly, Northern California general manager for General Petroleum Corporation, distributors of Mobilgas and Mobiloil, one of the students at Stanford University is Hans Erich Scheuer of Wurzburg, Germany, here as a protegee of Hitler and the Nazi German Government. He has with him an automobile of unusual interest. Scheuer, who is taking an art course at Stanford and who is a chemist himself, brought with him a B.M.W. (Bavarian Motor Works) six-cylinder car, on the engine of which is attached a permanent plate carrying specifications of Mobiloil for both summer and winter use.

Mr. Donnelly says these manufacturers, who incidentally are one of the biggest of German automobile makers, are taking no chances on motor oil used in their engines. The car, which according to the American viewpoint is quite small, is, however, very efficient, attaining a speed as high as 80 miles per hour and making 20 to 25 miles per gallon on gasoline. What is still more interesting is the fact that this small car cost Scheuer the equivalent of $2,000 in American money and is not nearly so large as many of the American cars which can be purchased for less than $1,000.

Scheuer is on an extensive mission. From California he expects shortly to go to Mexico, then to Japan and China.

Scanty Clothing Of Girls 'Break' For M. P. Nudist

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—City Judge Thomas F. Prendergast thinks men should have the right to wear as little clothes as women, and this belief resulted in John Page, 37-year-old Menlo Park nudist, winning dismissal of a charge of indecent exposure.

Page was arrested here during the Labor Day parade, when he attempted to march, in bathing trunks, in the ranks of women members of the United Garment Workers' Union.

Page told the judge he had joined the Elysium nudist colony at Los Gatos for his health, joined the Labor Day parade for fun.

Judge Prendergast dismissed the charges with the observation:

"I've seen some girls at the beach with less clothes on than you are wearing, and they're not supposed to be nudists."

Stanford Starts Football Practice

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 9.—Stanford university opened its football practice season today. Coach Tiny Thornhill issued equipment this morning, allowed himself and the boys to pose for camera-men and then retired until the afternoon, when he was to hold a secret workout.

Tomorrow the football day will start at 9:30 a.m. and end at 5 p.m., with a good prospect of overtime. Coach Harry Shipkey also sent his squad through an initial workout today. Bill Grant of Sequoia high school's 1937 graduating class was the only Redwood City recruit.

Woody Adams, former end, and Carl Schott, former guard, are two new coaches who will aid Shipkey. Nine other Pacific Coast Conference institutions likewise opened practice.

The national capital has a single corridor 750 feet long running under both the senate and house chambers.

Legion Auxiliary will meet in San Mateo tonight at 8 p.m. President Jessie Zant will preside. Isabelle Weeden Lundquist will serve as her cooperative sales chairman.

Anna Bush was installed as first vice president of Menlo Parlor No. 211, N. S. G. W., Tuesday night by District Deputy Mary Fisher, who is deputy to Bonita Parlor No. 10 of Redwood City. Past President Eleanor Ryan acted as deputy grand president and Marguerite Lintner was deputy grand marshal.

SALE PLANNED OF LOTS GIVEN UP BY DEBTORS

147 Pieces Will Go
To Highest Bidders
In Few Weeks

As a result of the city council's policy of retrieving for the City of Redwood City property on which improvement act bonds have become delinquent and on which the city has had to make good the tardy payments and cannot get the owners to redeem the holdings, a total of nearly 500 lots soon will go on sale to the highest bidders.

This action was decided on Tuesday night by the council following a progress report by Councilman James M. Eva, chairman of the council's 1915 act bond committee.

First property to be offered will be 57 lots on which quitclaim deeds have been secured and 90 more lots on which such deeds are expected to be obtained this week from the three firms holding them. The deeds have been given by the property owners without cost, the owners feeling in most cases that the delinquent bonds and taxes are greater in amount than the lots are worth to them.

READY IN FEW WEEKS

George Paul, city official who has been securing the quitclaim deeds, will compile a list of the properties and post it at the city hall within a fortnight or so. At this time, notification through The Tribune will be given of the location of the lots and bids will be sought.

Those lots on which are made offers which the council deems high enough will then be placed on public sale and be sold to the highest bidders, in accordance with city charter provisions, it was decided. While in many cases the lots will not bring enough to compensate the city for the defaulted bonds and taxes, the sale will give the city back part of the money it has been forced, under supreme court decision, to pay, and also will put the property back on the tax rolls.

Should bids be deemed too low on certain parcels, these will be held by the city and not offered for sale until better offers are assured.

PRICES NOT TOO LOW

Councilman Eva pointed out that although reasonable offers for the lots will bring about their sale, the properties will not be sold for ridiculously low prices, it being better for the city to hold the parcels until better offers are received.

The 147 lots include parcels of property in nearly all sections of the city, Councilman Eva said. Some are in Central Park; some on Eagle Hill; some in Oak Knoll Manor; some in Mezesville, north of the courthouse; some in West Redwood.

When the list of the lots is pre-

Mrs. Mintline Dies After Brief Illness

Funeral services for Mrs. Mildred Mary Mintline of Stockton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Seufert Sr. of Redwood City, were held at the Layng & Tinney Funeral Home in Redwood City Tuesday at 9 o'clock, with requiem mass being celebrated at 9:30 at St. Carmel church. Mrs. Mintline passed away Saturday night in Stockton after a brief illness.

Mrs. Mintline, a former Redwood City resident, had moved to Stockton during the past year from Los Angeles. She was the wife of William James Mintline. She leaves two children, Mary Ann and Billy Mintline.

Other relatives include three brothers, Ted Seufert Jr. and Roger Seufert of Redwood City and Leland Seufert, who resides in the East. Mrs. Mintline's parents were with her when she passed away. They were returning the body to Redwood City today.

Bad Check Artists Plead for Probation

Two men facing charges growing out of bad checks asked Superior Judge A. R. Cotton for probation Tuesday.

Eugene G. Smith, 52, former Burlingame salesman convicted of swindling Dr. Joseph Dallal of San Mateo out of $250 by a tale of a fake inheritance, asked mercy on a grand theft charge.

Joel B. McDonald, 72, San Carlos horse trainer, asked leniency for having passed a $15 forged check on an East Palo Alto service station.

People in the national capital who wish to "keep up with their reading" must read 250,000 volumes a year, the number annually received by the Library of Congress.

pared, it also will be given to the real estate men who voluntarily aided the council in appraising the lots last year.

In addition to the properties on which quitclaim deeds have been secured, a total of 334 other lots on which bonds and taxes have become more than five years delinquent will be foreclosed on. At present, titles are being searched. These lots will be ready for sale within a few months, it was estimated by City Atty. Albert Mansfield.

In addition to securing the lots for the city, Councilman Eva's committee, composed of Councilmen Louis C. Christensen and William Hohn, have succeeded in getting delinquencies paid up. Eva reported. One firm, the Northern Counties Title Insurance Company, has notified him it would redeem 60 parcels it holds.

"We're getting along much more rapidly than I anticipated," he reported.

Saves Folger Home

The passage of a Redwood City mail carrier saved the J. A. Folger Woodside mansion from possible destruction by fire at noon Tuesday.

Louis Parham, 243 Poplar street, spotted smoke pouring out of the back porch of the luxurious mansion, and called the fire to the attention of the Woodside fire department.

Then, with the aid of O. Blackington, estate superintendent, Parham fought the flames with a garden hose until the firemen arrived. Damage was estimated by firemen at $600. The back porch was destroyed and the rear of the house scorched.

Mrs. Folger, wife of the late coffee millionaire, was away at her summer Modoc county home.

Operator of Bayshore Cafe Faces Guns Of Bandits

Two bemustached, sportily dressed, smooth-talking and "cocky" young gunmen held up the Mora Tavern, on the Bayshore highway in East Palo Alto, and escaped around midnight Monday night with $50 in loot.

"I guess you know what this is—a stickup," one of the bandits told Henry Mora Jr., alone in the tavern, as both of the thugs covered him with revolvers.

One of the bandits, both of whom were about 23, kept Mora covered while the other vaulted the bar and looted the cash register.

The thugs then fled, warning Mora to lie on the floor until they had made their getaway.

Mora, however, crawled along the floor to the window in a futile attempt to get a glimpse of the robbers' car.

He then telephoned the sheriff's office and in a few moments, called by radio, a net of patrol and police cars was thrown out, but the pair slipped through.

Deputy Sheriffs Ferguson Owen and John Simpkin handled the case for Sheriff McGrath. They reported that Mora said the gunmen were evidently veterans at the game, for they displayed no nervousness and acted smoothly and efficiently, giving him terse instructions in a tone of voice that meant business.

Search for Missing
Man's Body Fails

Dragging operations yesterday and today failed to locate the body of Hal Fuller, San Francisco fisherman who was drowned Sunday night in the bay near Brisbane.

Fuller's two companions, Thomas J. Feeney and Svend Noble, were rescued because Under Sheriff Lawrence Nieri, driving along the Bayshore highway, happened to see their light craft in difficulty in the heavy waves.

Nieri and Officer James W. Bedford of the San Bruno police, in the latter's boat, saved the pair who clung to the boat, but could not locate Fuller, who had tried to swim to shore for help.

Nieri and Bedford, the draggers, expert through long experience in hunting for bodies in the lower end of the bay, said that Fuller's corpse would probably not be recovered for eight or nine days.

Another subject discussed was the petition which has been presented to the board of supervisors regarding a drainage system for Friendly Acres. The petition has been referred to the district attorney and county engineer.

QUEEN CONTEST COMES TO END

As construction was started here on the spacious dance platform on Walnut street at Broadway to be used for public dancing during the Harbor Opening Festival, the queen contest came to a prompt close at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Up through deadline time, the chamber of commerce offices were swamped by the last minute rush of queen candidates and their supporters to hand in all the remaining votes which they have accumulated since June 28, when the record-breaking contest opened.

No estimates were made of the totals, but it was rumored that several of the candidates would approach or even surpass the 3,000,000-vote mark.

Friday's standings, the last to be announced, were as follows: Nancy Marlow, 1,600,000; Jo Ann Andersen, 1,486,000; Beverley Jane Heald, 1,380,000; Jane Dilg, 1,254,870; La Vern Rice, 1,206,000; Audrey Douglass, 1,089,000; Irene Dupret, 700,000; Angela Faso, 608,000; Juanita Gover, 460,000; Achilla Yager, 205,000, and Reinette Miller, 128,000.

The winner will be announced and crowned Queen by Mayor Paul A. McCarthy on Friday night at the first showing of the Harbor Festival Pageant to be staged at Sequoia high school athletic field.

The votes will be counted by a committee of three judges, whose names will not be disclosed until the night of pageant, Contest Manager Tom Kane declared.

Meanwhile, ticket sales were reported as excellent for the pageant. Chairman Frank A. De Patta of the Harbor Festival general committee reminded ticket purchasers that the tickets were good for either Friday or Saturday nights.

Gall Bladder Trouble absolutely all right and well again by taking YEE & KO CHINESE HERB TREATMENTS

Yee & Ko Herb Co.,
872 Main St.,
Redwood City, Calif.

DEAR SIR: I had a severe attack of "gall bladder" trouble last Spring. The doctor told me that if I had another attack I would have to have an operation. Dreading an operation, I decided to try your herbs. After taking two months of your herb treatments I can truthfully say that I am absolutely all right and well again.

I can highly recommend YEE & KO HERBS to any one who suffers as I did, and feel sure, if you give them a trial, they surely will help you.

Very truly,
MRS. L. POWELL,

Chief Collins Escapes Injury In Auto Crash

Chief of Police C. L. Collins was hale and hearty today, but the Redwood City police car he has been driving was in a garage, the automobile's rear and front ends badly smashed as result of a four-car collision on El Camino Real Monday afternoon.

Although the chief escaped injury, Mrs. Louis Ottesen, 63, San Francisco, was in a serious condition at the German Hospital in San Francisco, where she was declared to be suffering from a skull injury incurred when her husband's automobile collided with Chief Collins' police car at Redwood avenue.

So heavy was the impact that the chief's vehicle was hurled into the rear of a car driven by Frank Zuneich of Palo Alto, whose machine in turn was shoved into another, the driver of which drove away before he could be identified.

Alexander Ross, of Fresno, riding with Chief Collins, was unhurt. Mrs. Ottesen was given emergency treatment by Dr. Harry Mason.

Ottesen told Chief Collins that he had just purchased the car and had become confused, stepping on the gas instead of the brake. He was not held.

It was the second accident within three days to involve Redwood City policemen. H. G. Fleishman, police officer, was hurt Saturday evening during the Sea Scout parade, when he was struck by a taxi. He was taken to his home at 714 Adams street, where he is reported to be recovering from

Speeders Here Pay $47.50 in Penalties

One Redwood City speeder and seven motorists nabbed going too fast on nearby state highways were assessed a total of $47.50 in fines late last week by Judge Edward I. McLaughlin.

Cited by highway patrolmen, Clifford N. Elwood of San Francisco paid $15; Pelagio Gabae of Concord, $10; Harry A. March of Belvedere, and Josephine McCreey, Tres Pinos, $5; and Pleas Scaggs, San Jose, John Lindsay of Berkeley, and Pete Garza of Menlo Park, $2.50 each.

Mickey Sakuda was the Redwood City offender. He paid $5.

Meshe, cultured chimpanzee, died recently at the Brookfield zoo, Chicago.

TWO RESCUED FROM BAY AS THIRD DISAPPEARS SWIMMING FOR HELP

A heroic effort to swim a mile and a half to shore to bring help to two companions who were clinging late Sunday to a capsized skiff in the bay off Brisbane cost the life of Hal Fuller of San Francisco.

Undersheriff Lawrence Nieri and San Bruno Officer James W. Bedford rescued Fuller's companions, Svend Noble, 30, and Thomas J. Feeney, 28, both of San Francisco, when the pair were "just about all in," according to Bedford.

Nieri, driving along the Bay-shore highway, saw the light skiff capsize in heavy waves, and notified Bedford, owner of a boat that has been used many times in bay rescue work.

Noble and Feeney, clinging to the swamped craft, waved pleadingly to their rescuers to hurry, and were so weak when taken from the water that they had to be hauled bodily into the launch. Feeney, who was rescued six weeks ago by Bedford from a similar predicament, said that Fuller had attempted to swim ashore to bring help. He never reached land.

The men rescued had clung to the skiff for several hours and required treatment at South San Francisco Hospital for exposure.

Nieri, Bedford and Jailer Louis

BELMONT FIRE PUT OUT
County firemen extinguished a blaze which burned three acres back of Belmont Tuesday.

Mrs. Elin Sederlund Dies at R. C. Home

Following a six month's illness, Mrs. Elin Sederlund, 49, wife of Olof Sederlund, 140 Roosevelt avenue, employee of a San Francisco metal firm, died late Sunday at her home.

Surviving, besides the husband, is a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Sjoberg, of the same address. The Sederlunds have lived in Redwood City for six years.

'Traveling Festival Hat' Sees Five Cities

Mrs. Margaret McAllister, publicity chairman of Redwood City Chapter No. 601, Women of the Moose, has what she calls the "Redwood City Harbor Opening traveling hat," which has accompanied her on visits to Women of the Moose chapters in Sacramento, Stockton, Salinas, Vallejo and San Jose.

The hat is autographed with more than 50 names of persons in

E. B. HINMAN RECOVERING County Clerk E. B. Hinman was convalescing at his home today from an attack of pleurisy which will keep him away from his office until the first of next week.

The United States ordered all amateur radio stations dismantled during the World war.

those cities who were interested in "knowing why the hat was dated September 10-12," and whose interest in the Harbor Opening Festival here was thereby stimulated, Mrs. McAllister said.

Pageant Garb To Be Supplied

Pageant actors and actresses of San Mateo County's Fiesta will positively not have to furnish their own costumes.

"Under no circumstances," said Manager Chester Lipman here, in refuting rumors to the effect that the pageant participants would have to furnish their own costumes, "will anyone in the pageant be put to the expense of a costume. All costumes in the pageant will be furnished by Fanchon and Marco. That's definite."

The costume rumor is the second of a whisper campaign directed against the pageant, Lipman said.

With that question definitely settled, pageant directors settled down to more hard work. There is still heavy demand for male singers, persons to play Indian parts, and old fashioned fire arms.

Friday night at Knights of Columbus gym quarters in San Mateo, the first big get-together rehearsal of pageant actors will be held.

Tomorrow night, Fredric Roehr, directing the pageant choral group, will rehearse his singers and hopes for more tenors and bass singers.

Coming to the financial phase of the show, Directors Elmer Roberts and Mrs. F. M. Perkins, in charge of advance ticket sales, urged potential patrons of the fiesta to get their tickets early.

Last year there was a last minute rush for three for $1 pasteboards, Roberts and Mrs. Perkins pointed out.

And, to the press bureaus and publications of the state went photographs of 13 peninsula girls who are candidates for fiesta hostess posts. The photographs were taken Friday night. Most of the girls appeared to have good "camera faces." It was revealed, with only a small percentage falling short of the goal.

Lime is about twice as soluble in cold water as it is in boiling water.
